Parades - MK

Afternoon parades start in Frontierland, evening start in the front of the park (15-20 min till reaches back).

WDW Railroad's at the Town Square end of Main Street but only a few seats. A pathway runs along the Liberty Square side of the moat from the Sleepy Hollow Sandwich Shop to Cinderella's Castle. Any point along this path allows a clear view as it passes over the Liberty Square Bridge.

There is a covered walkway connecting Liberty Tree Tavern with the Diamond Horseshoe Saloon. This elevated vantage point is perfect and usually goes unnoticed till just before the parade starts.

There are elevated wooden platforms in front of the Shootin Gallery, Trading Post and in front of the building with the sign "Frontier Merchandise".

Sit on a stone wall opposite Liberty Tree Tavern. Saw everything because we were high and also had the option to stand on the wall.

Sleepy Hollow Sandwich Shop in Liberty Square, offers a good view of the parade from the rail-side tables on the outdoor patio.

Our favorite parade watching spot is in Frontierland in front of the Mile Long Bar. There's a tree and a hitching post and enough room behind the rope for a single file of our family..

Parade - MGM

Afternoon parade starts at Star Tours.

Fireworks - MK

Terrace of the Plaza Pavilion restaurant in Tomorrow Land.

Near the hub on the right hand side, on the walkway that leads to Tomorrowland. Right up next to the railing near the Mickey and someone (Donald or Minnie I think) topiary. Got some grapes from Cosmic Rays.

Look for Tinker Bell to fly from the rightmost turret of the castle to Timekeeper. Also view at Toontown as a second choice.

Illuminations

Generally anyplace that you have an unobstructed view of the ball in the middle of the lake, and at least 2 adjacent barges, the viewing will be nice. You may also want to be aware of the proximity of a speaker or two (which are spaced around the walk) so you will get good audio.

Sulfur smell can blow in your face in waves of fog; be sure to sit with the wind blowing from behind you. Check out the way the flags blow.

Sit on the promenade between Norway and Mexico on around through Canada, UK and the bridge promenade by France. Or on the promenade between Germany and China.

Sitting on the edge (top level) of a little fountain between the USA and Italy. On the International Gateway Island.

The Gondola Landing at Italy is excellent.

The Boat Dock opposite Germany is very good.

Sit on tiered area by the water in front of France. Sit at America (12:00) or UK (3:00) or FutureWorld (6:00) or Norway (9:00).

Sit in small "park" just north of England.

Rose and Crown - There is free seating outside the Rose and Crown along the rail with small tables that did not fill up until 8:15.

We favor the little spot just to the left of Germany (as you face Germany). It is a great little spot that has a surprise during the show.

Secret garden -Take the path running down the side of the Rose & Crown Pub (stay on the sidewalk and bear left) on the French side. There's a nice little sitting area there right by the lagoon.

Watch from Cantina de San Angel. This is the best spot but might need to get there 1 hour early.
